FAQs

Who can participate? Former Monday Music School students, as well as new pupils, are invited to apply for the Fall 2010, semester. Children, teenagers and adults are all welcome; no previous musical experience is necessary.

What will I receive? Pupils, if accepted, will receive 11 half-hour private lessons on the instrument of their choice (or theory). A staff-and-student recital is held in week 12.

When and where will the lessons be held? Every Monday starting September 19, sometime within the period 4:00 and 6:00 p.m., at the Fennell campus of Mohawk College. (There will be no lessons on Thanksgiving Day, October 10.)

How much? The cost is $80 per semester payable on the day of your first lesson. It will be refunded if, for some reason, we cannot accommodate you. If you are registering early, please postdate your cheque to September 19, 2011.

What instruments are taught? We usually offer drum set, voice, guitar, piano, theory of music, bass, brass and wind instruments, but that is contingent upon Mohawk students' availability. (Note that the list of instruments offered is subject to change.)

Who are the teachers? Second and third year Applied Music students at Mohawk College, under the supervision of a faculty member.

What if I am ill? Legitimate reasons for absence will occur from time to time. Make sure that you have your teacher's home telephone number, so that you can give sufficient notice of absence. In an emergency, the number at which messages may be left is 905 973-1653. Please note this number is for emergencies only.

The low fee is made possible by the fact that this is a teacher training program for senior music students. Just paying your money is not enough to uphold your end of the bargain – you must attend lessons very regularly and do the assigned practising faithfully in order to progress.

We regret that we cannot provide practice facilities. Students must have their own instruments or regular access to an instrument.

Parents are respectfully reminded that the Department of Music Studies cannot supervise children when not actually in their music lessons. Please do not leave children unattended, before or after their lesson time.
